Sensitization vs. Desensitization

Sensitization:

Becoming more sensitive to a stimulus through repeated exposure, which leads to greater wanting or more intense cravings for the stimulus. This may result in the need to use pornography to feel aroused.

Desensitization:

Becoming less sensitive to a stimulus through repeated exposure, which leads to getting less enjoyment from it. This may cause a tolerance to build and result in needing more intense or novel pornography to achieve arousal.

Pornography Induced ED:

Difficulty or inability to get and maintain an erection (males) or arousal (females) caused by sensitization and desensitization caused by overexposure to porn.
